Earl Klugh (Born September 16, 1953 in Detroit, Michigan) is an American smooth jazz/jazz fusion guitarist and composer.. Klugh finger picks a classical guitar with nylon strings At the age of 13, Klugh was captivated by the guitar playing of Chet Atkins when he made an appearance on the Perry Como Show.. That he could do so within a context that was accessible, and even pretty, is an accomplishment that stands today.. Yusef Lateef Detroit Rapidshare - Apps Download TIDAL Playlist Yusef Lateef Detroit Rapidshare - Apps Download TIDAL Playlist Lateef had long been interested in Eastern music, long before John Coltrane had ever shown any public interest anyway, so this Moodsville session (which meant it was supposed to be a laid-back ballad-like record), recorded in 1961, was drenched in Lateef's current explorations of Eastern mode and interval, as well as tonal and polytonal improvisation. Like several other Detroit-bred entertainers, Klugh attended Mumford High School (Michigan). Follow Following Unfollow Dr Yusef Lateef (born William Emanuel Huddleston, October 9, 1920 – December 23, 2013) was an American jazz multi-instrumentalist, composer and educator and a renowned spokesman for the Ahmadiyya Muslim Community after his conversion to Islam in 1950. He has since been a guest on several Atkins albums, reciprocating as well, joined Earl on his Magic In Your Eyes album. Klugh became a guitar instructor at the young age of 15, and was eventually discovered by Yusef Lateef. A stellar working band, featuring fellow Detroiters Barry Harris on piano, helps the multi-instrumental pioneer Lateef realize his one-world vision of a music that knows neither stylistic boundaries nor expressive limitations. Klugh was also influenced by Bob James, Ray Parker Jr, Wes Montgomery and Laurindo Almeida. His sound is a blend of these jazz, pop and rhythm and blues influences, forming a potpourri of sweet contemporary music original to only him.
